

BIG POTENTIAL: Farmers Tam Ly and his brother Duy of 4 Ways Fresh are among 10 SA recipients to take part in an intensive company growth program. Picture: KERYN STEVENS

ALEXANDRA ECONOMOU

ANZ and the University of South Australia's Centre for Business Growth have named 10 Australian small businesses who will take part in an intensive company growth program.

Of the SMEs taking part, five are from SA, including Mt Gambier's Beachport Liquid Minerals and Virginia-based 4 Ways Fresh. The program is open to ANZ business customers with between five and 200 employees and more than $5 million in annual sales.

ANZ managing director of corporate and commercial banking Mark Hand said the program gives CEOs a framework to sustainably scale their businesses.

"It is important that we provide not only finance and banking services, but also the essential knowledge to expand and grow," he said.

Program facilitator Dr Jana Matthews said it believes each of the participating companies have high growth potential.

"Many small companies begin as a family business with close links to employees and the community," she said.

"It is important for CEOs to learn what is required to grow their companies."

Other SA companies taking part are WorkXtra, Country Blinds and TRG Transport.