Redarc Electronics has been crowned 'Manufacturer of the Year' at the 14th edition of the Manufacturers' Monthly Endeavour Awards held in Melbourne last week.

The Adelaide-based company not only beat out 33 finalists from across the country to claim the evening's top honour, but also took home the Global Supply Chain Integration of the Year title and the Most Innovative Manufacturing Company Award.

Sydney-based hydraulics specialist, Enerpac (below), was recognised for its Electric Torque Wrench, taking home the Australian Industrial Product of the Year.

Tasmania's Greenland Systems (below) was the winner of the Environment Solution of the Year for the development of its GLX100 Orange Series solar heating solution.

The Safety Solution of the Year accolade was given to United Forklift and Access Solutions (below left) for the design of its Athena 850 Bi-levelling Tracked Scissor Lift, while Solentive Software and Clipsal by Schneider Electric (below right) won the Technology Application Award for its Clipspec Application.

Other winners included crop protection specialist, Nufarm (below left), which was awarded the 2017 Exporter of the Year Award, and Melbourne's Yumarr Automation (below right), which won the Outstanding Start-up Award.

“Congratulations to all the finalists and the winners of this year’s Endeavour Awards. Prime Creative Media and Manufacturers’ Monthly are proud to recognise and reward the leaders, the innovative – the very best of what Australian manufacturing has to offer,” said John Murphy, Managing Director of Prime Creative Media.

“We’d also like to extend a big thank you to our Endeavour Awards’ networking sponsor Industrial Capability Network (ICN), as well as our event sponsors Beckhoff, CSIRO, SICK Sensor Intelligence, SEW Eurodrive, the Australian Advanced Manufacturing Council (AAMC), Advanced Manufacturing Growth Centre (AMGC), the ANCA Group and Air Liquide for all of their support.”

The Endeavour Awards are the most esteemed and prestigious Awards program for the manufacturing sector in Australia.
