Australian manufacturer Demold Medical launches new mask range.

Australian manufacturer Detmold Medical has launched a new range of masks, including the tri-panel respirator surgical face mask and a surgical mask with a visor.

The company said the surgical mask with a visor was created as a non-sterile disposable mask for use in the healthcare, aged care and dental industries, while the Tri-Panel respirator was designed for improved breathability for workers in the healthcare and industrial sectors.

“These masks have been designed and manufactured to meet local and international standards,” said CEO Rodney Detmold.
